

Helping hand: Moama Football Netball Club's Peter Strom and Keryn Evans with Villawood office manager Jenny Turner and YMCA One and All inclusions program director Philip Evans.

Community support from Villawood

As the football season gears up, Villawood Properties has shown its support for YMCA One and All Auskick and Moama Football Club. Villawood has given $2000 to support the One and All under 14s team to provide new jumpers and $1000 to Moama as a support.

Villawood Properties' executive director Rory Costelloe said the community grants program allowed Villawood to support some clubs in areas across the state and now Moama.

"The One and All Auskick program is a great initiative we are thrilled to support in Moama. Helping children with a disability to connect and enjoy the fun of sport and football is a truly wonderful program to be involved with," Mr Costelloe said.

One and All Auskick inclusion program director Philip Evans said he was excited to have Villawood Properties on board as a major supporter of the program.

"Our old jumpers were a mixed batch and to now have something that is clearly just for the Rockets, it is tremendous," Mr Evans said. "The new jumpers give us an identity. These are great kids with great ability, they just need an opportunity to show what they can do."

Mr Evans is urging the public to get behind the competition to help design the jumpers.

"We need the community to really embrace us," he said. Developing Moama's newest community, Villawood Properties' Maidens Estate is off Nicholas Drive.

Named after riverboat captain James Maiden, who originally founded Moama, Maidens Estate is already proving popular with many families looking to enjoy an active lifestyle surrounded by beautiful parks in Moama. "As part of our community grants program we are also excited to announce our support of the local footballers and netballers of Moama as a sponsor of the Moama Football and Netball Club," Mr Costelloe said.

The money will help the club in funding uniforms, training facilities and other equipment. Moama Football Club's Peter Strom said the money would be used in the junior development program.

"The kids are the future of our senior sides," Mr Strom said.

"We want them to stay local and be local. We want a family atmosphere for the club where we continue to retain all our players."

For information on Villawood's Maidens Estate, people can contact selling agent Gary Wood at Charles L King and Co First National on 54-82 2111 or log onto www.maidensestatemoama.com.au